

Instructions for using the notice of liability

The attached notice is worded as it is for a very specific reason.

If you do not know or understand why it is worded as it is, I encourage you to embark on a learning process that will help you understand how to take full responsibility for yourself as a wo/man. When we use the word [wo]man that is intended to mean a man or a woman. By calling ourselves a man or a woman we are removing ourselves from legal jurisdiction and putting ourselves into lawful jurisdiction and accordingly this notice is intended to be a lawful notice not a legal notice. Lawfully you have more rights as a [wo]man than you do as a legal citizen or person. The more you learn about the difference of legal and lawful the better able you will be to enforce this notice. In the attached document;

- Put your first and last name in the document and as instructed by the yellow highlighted words remove the words, the brackets (except for postal code brackets), and the yellow highlights. Do not change the wording. See Sample. – read with good humour.
- Use c/o and then your address. Lawfully speaking we live in our body not in a building and our property includes our body and that which we own.
- Keep your postal code in the brackets as shown - being in brackets is important. Postal codes fall under the legal jurisdiction so by being in brackets that is equivalent to saying it is omitted from the notice.
- Insert your first name and your child's first name. Your child is considered your property and to avoid confusion with his or her legal name just use the first name and probably best if you can insert a photo of the child. Keep all punctuation formatting. Again it is for a reason.
- Make this notice to a man or woman and use their first and last name. Do not use all capital letters ...Cap first letter of first and last name, add in their position and the school or school division they are employed with.
- Fine will be different for each [wo]man depending on their professional liability coverage. Teacher $2 million principals and nurses $5million
- Instead of using cursive writing to sign the document you need to use a thumb print done in red ink on the line above your name. This is an indication that you are not in the legal jurisdiction. Also do not move your name to the left side of the page. It needs to remain on the right.

We have been using these notices for other things and so far they have been working well. Most people do not want to take responsibility should they cause damage/harm or trespass. It is very unlikely that anyone will defy the notice and risk the fine and having their name added to the list for the Nuremberg 2 trials that are in the process of being set. This is very likely enough to make the shift especially if they get this notice from a large number of people. Having said that if you are not willing to carry this out to the end including making a claim against the person that breaches the notice do not do it. Failure to follow through will only make future notices look like a joke.

One of the things that is important to realize is that part of the reason we find ourselves in this government over reach of power is because for too long we have put our trust in the government to take responsibility for us and our families. In putting this notice out to the individual men and woman of our communities we are showing that we are now going to start taking responsibility for ourselves which is one of the first steps in reclaiming our power. If you want to really dig into this idea 'we the people' are the ones who create the government and the people in these roles as public servants are just that...servants. They are paid to be of service to us and we are the ones who set the rules. Please take some time to learn more and start to look into the awarriorcalls.com website. It is a great site to start with because it is a Canadian man who knows the laws of our country. The more armed we become with this knowledge the more respect we get and the more able we are to show the overreaching powers we know who we are and what our rights are.
